“ Dearest Mom,

I am so thankful that when God allowed me to select a mother for this lifetime, I had the blessing of choosing you.

You taught me that true strength comes from faith. You taught me that life sometimes life takes you to your knees so the only way you can look is up. You taught me love is always the answer. You taught me to always be the light and never dim my brightness as it will illuminate others paths. You taught me kindness is a virtue. You taught me love is unconditional. You taught me life is too short to take any moment for granted. You taught me laughter is contagious. You taught me the antidote to pain is faith. You taught me that fear is an illusion. And you taught me that the love of a mother is everlasting.

This picture was taken almost exactly 40 years ago when you were teaching me how to stand without you. Here I am standing until we meet again. I love you for so many reasons and thank you for shaping me into the woman I am today who stands proudly to be forever your only daughter.

“ Dale always had a wonderful smile and warm word. I received the gift of knowing her in the latter years and the handwritten notes that she would make and send brought me a lot of joy. She was strengthened by her faith and her deep love for her daughter Kimberly. She will be dearly missed and is surely in a better place with the angels.
